Per Annos 1973 Presents

Times Gone By

*Remember how we spent the nighttime counting out the stars
Too late for the beach, too early for the bars.
All of us together would raise our glasses high
And drink a toast to times gone by.*

*The times, oh we had some times
When the world was the color of neon signs.
Each of us and all of us killed our dreams with rye
And tried to crowd a lifetime into times gone by.*

*Remember how the Sunday morning bells were always ringing
And out along the waterfront we'd hear the big men singing.
In some long forgotten time, some August or July Even then the better times were the times gone by.*

*The times, oh we had some times
When love cost only nickels and dimes.
Always when our secret needs were hard to satisfy We'd talk of going back again to times gone by.*

*Remember how we talked and laughed and cried into the dawning
And the terrible taste of kisses in the morning.
Crowded rooms and lonesome tunes and very little sky
Even then the better times were times gone by.*

*The times, you know we had some times
With gentle women and vintage wines.
But that was when we didn't know our youth was passing by Now all we have to talk about are times gone by.*

Rod McKuen

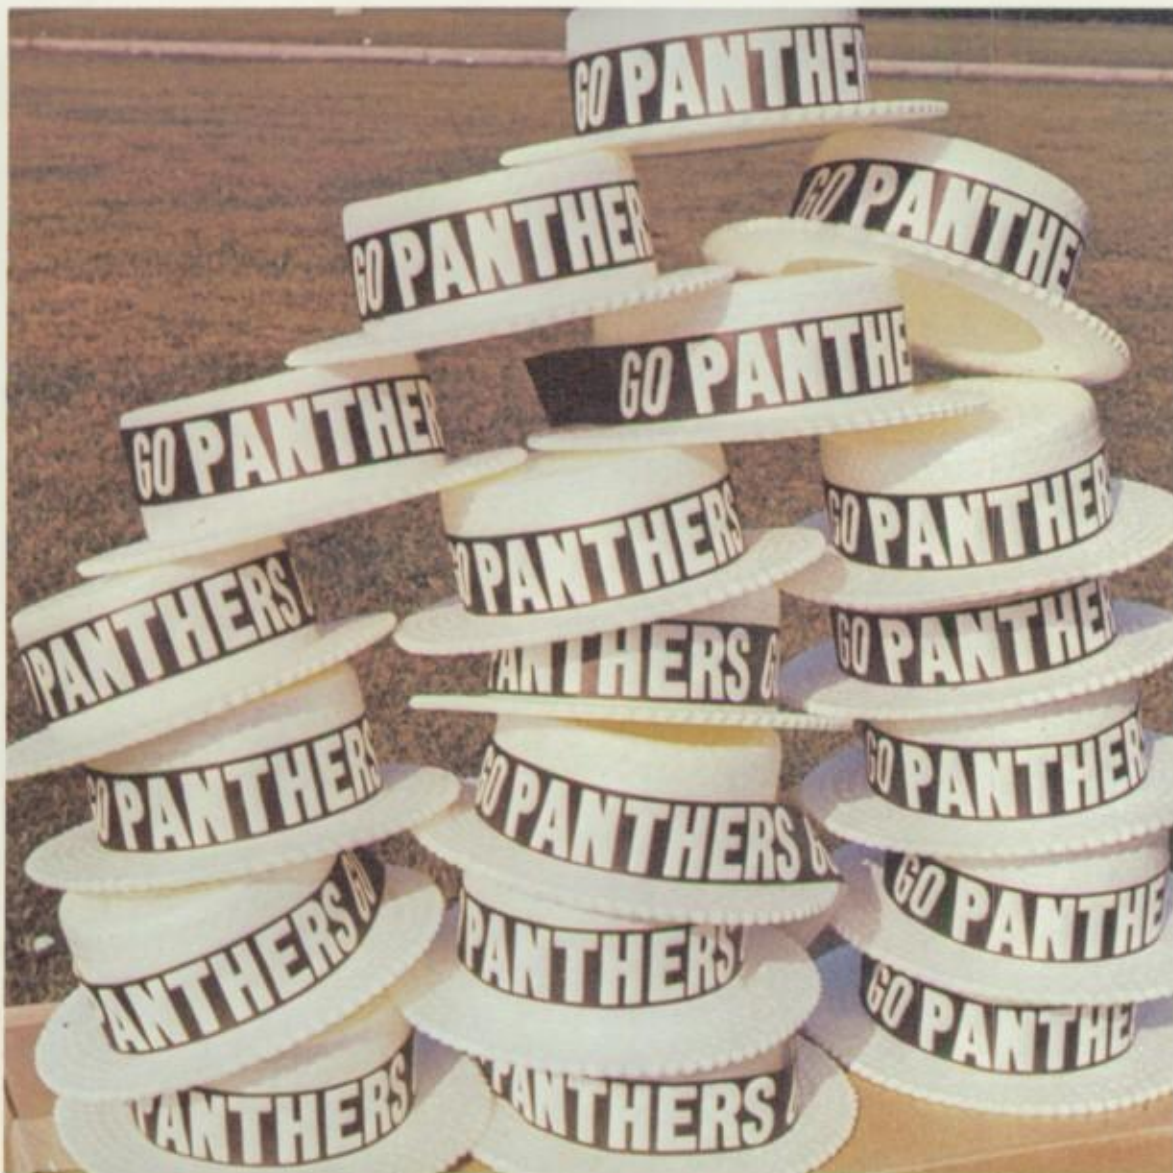

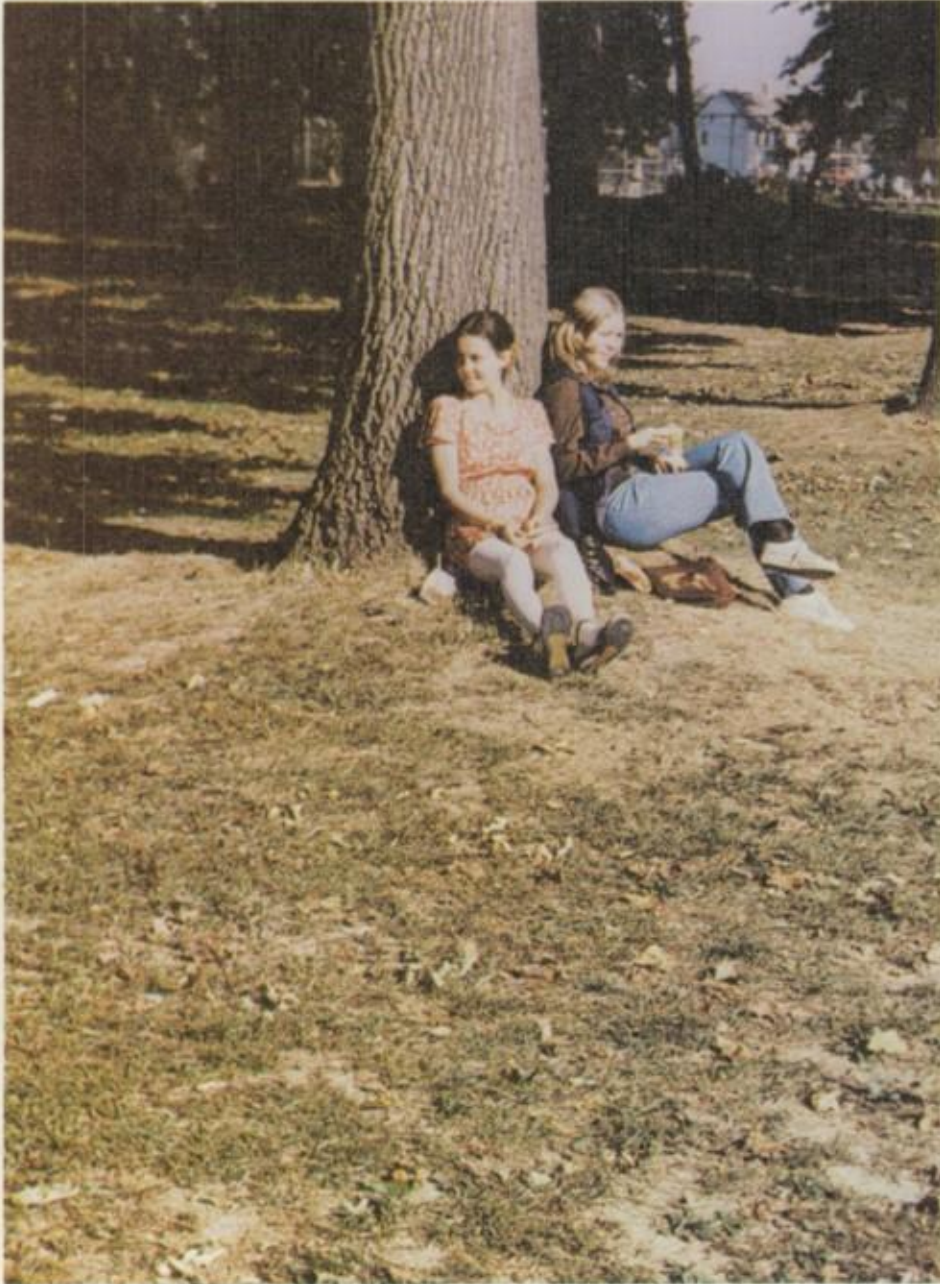

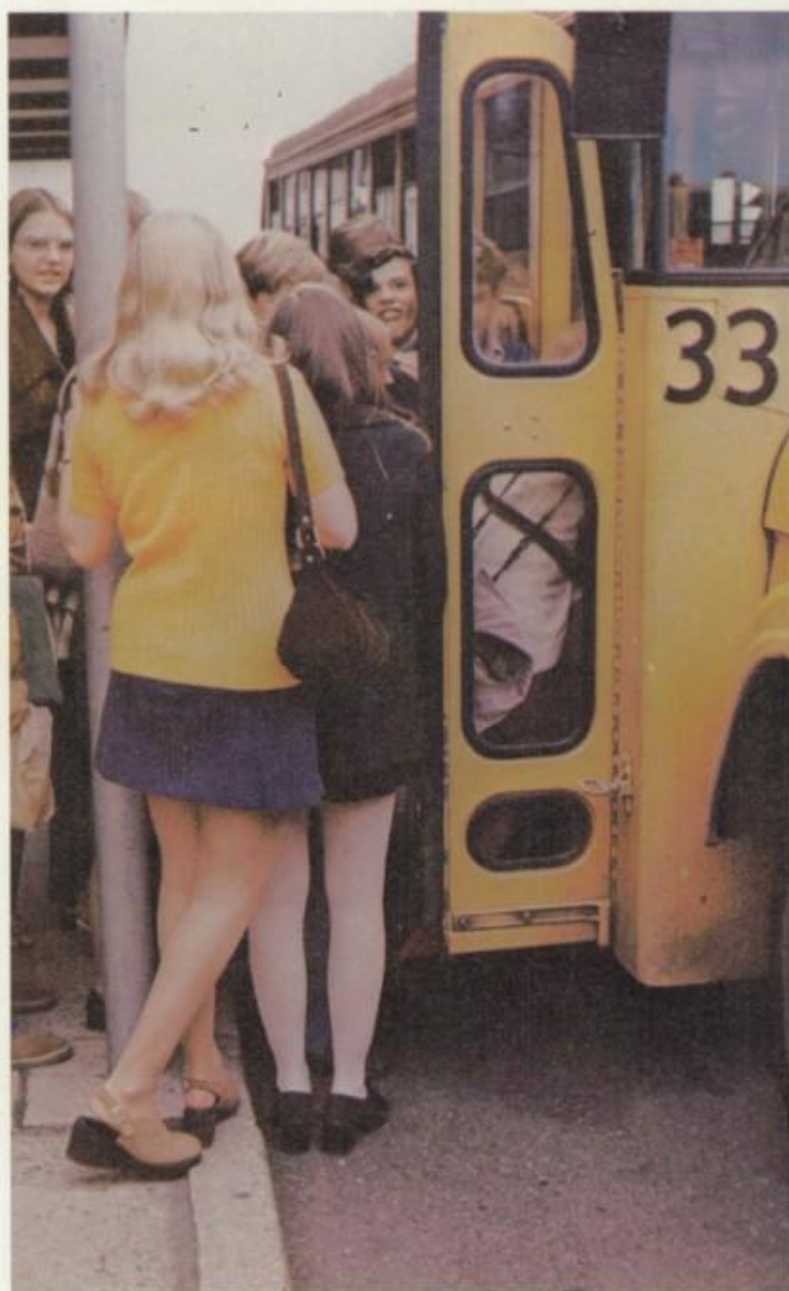

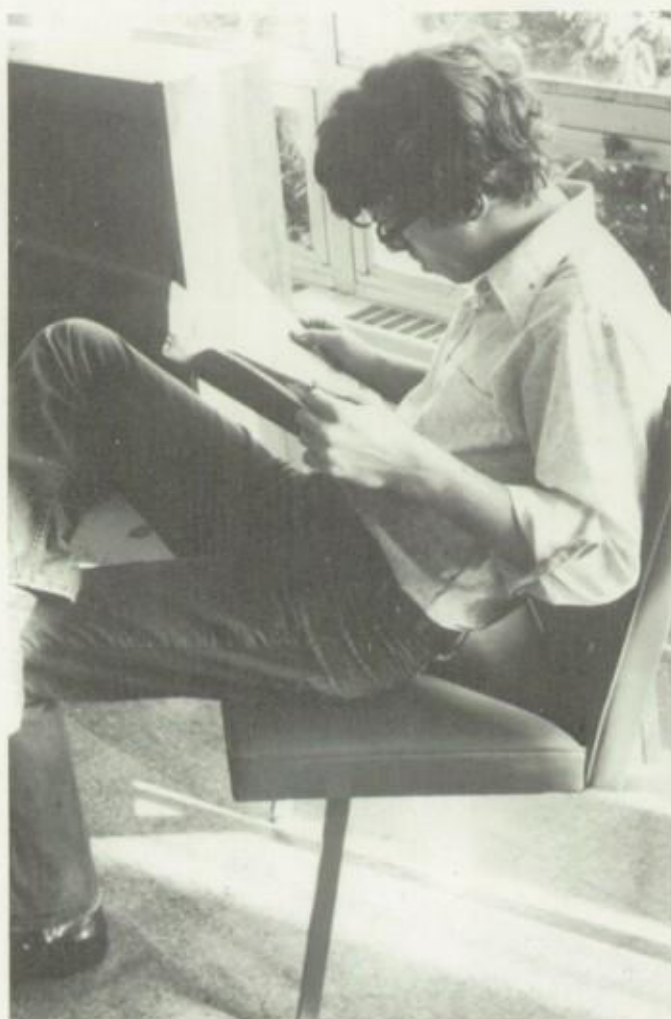

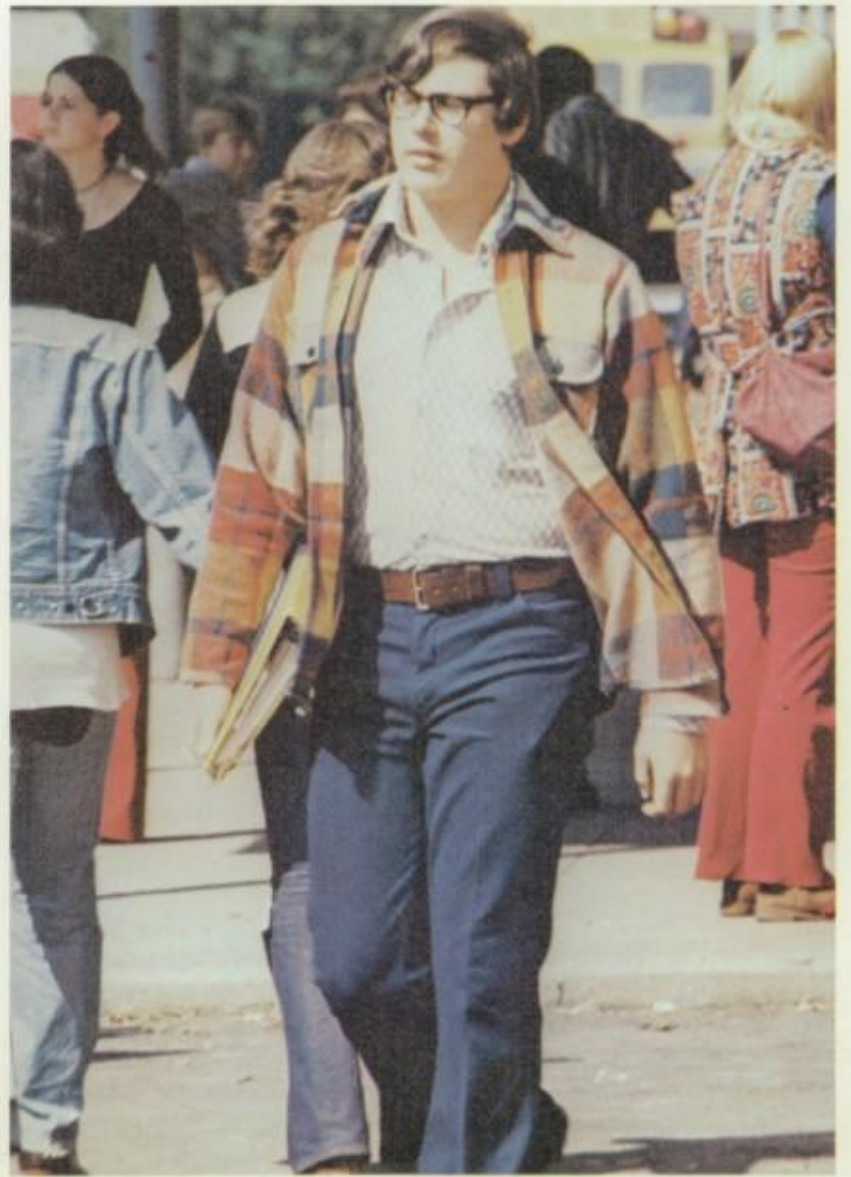

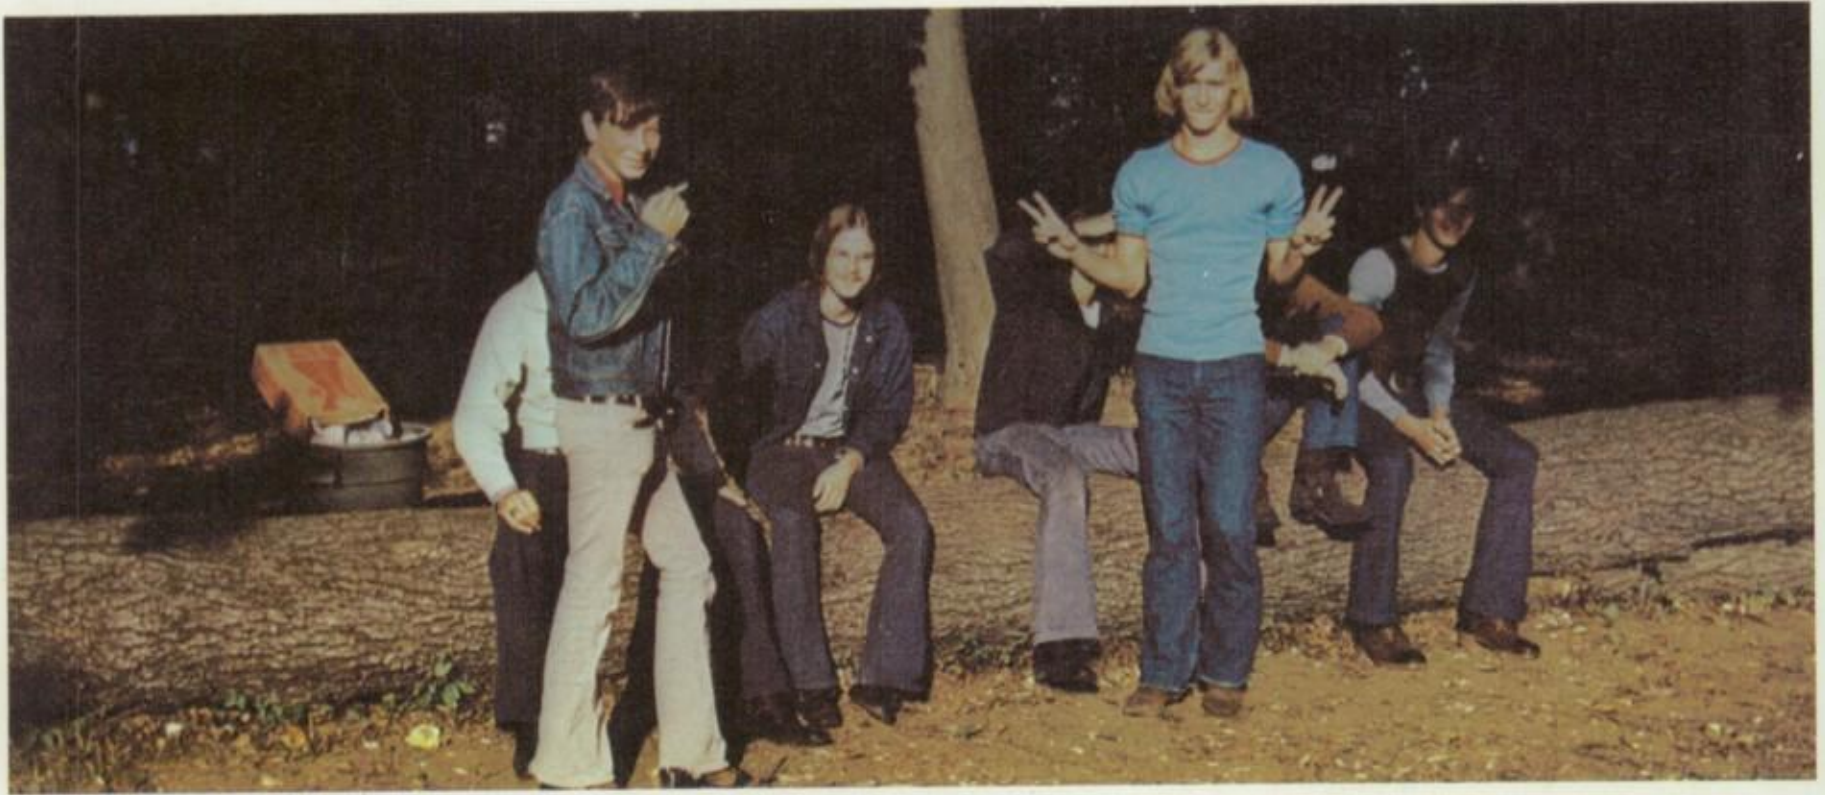

DEDICATION

Best wishes Margaret

The graduating class of 1973 is proud to present this edition of the Per Annos to a man who has instilled in us a sense of pride not only in our school, but also in ourselves. In recalling "The Times Gone By" we will remember not only: Tennent Raiders, unassigned time, new freedoms . . . but most of all a man who has not only given us his time and effort but also his soul. To this we say Thank You.

HISTORY OF THE 1973 CLASS

September 1970. Only three years ago, yet so many things have happened since then. We entered these hallowed halls as insecure sophomores, bewildered, in search of our identities. Yet, we knew exactly what we wanted to do, and before the next three years would draw to a close, we would have achieved our goals.

We were introduced to a man called Dr. Rittenmeyer, who was acting principal while Mr. Exum (whoever he was) was on leave of absence. We were constantly being reminded that we were " #1" and that we should "have a large Thursday." But the months passed quickly and the school year drew to a close. We were not finished, our missions were not complete. We would return.

As juniors, we returned with an air of confidence. We were really a part of things now, and we took advantage of the insecurities of the sophomore class.

This time we were greeted by Mr. James Exum. It was a year for development. We all became more involved in school activities. Honor students continued to strive and to achieve, environmentalists contributed their share to the cause of ecology, and athletes became prominent both on the field and at the intersection of "J" and "C." But with the closing of another school year, we found that we were still working toward our goals. We would return for one last time.

As seniors, we were greeted by Mr. Robert Ater, a new principal to WTHS. We had been promised a new school, but there was a delay, and we were forced to go on split sessions. We experienced a new concept called unassigned time, during which time we usually congregated in the cafeteria and stuffed our faces with stale licorice and burnt potato chips. But then the months passed quickly and things were all a blur . . . senior class meetings, caps and gowns, trips and the prom, all were part of the past.

Then it was graduation day and as we all smiled and said how glad we were that we were finally free, we were all filled with a secret sadness deep inside. We took long studied glances at each other, trying to remember everything. We pledged our eternal friendship to each other, promising to keep in touch, but knowing that we would probably never see each other again. We would all go our separate ways, never to be together again.

We entered WTHS as children. We now leave as adults. We have all achieved our own individual goals. In just three years we have developed a group of intellectuals, musicians, actors, environmentalists, and athletes. We are now ready to go out on our own. World, are you ready for us?

Editor's Message

Our goal as editors this year was to produce a yearbook relevant to the student. To accomplish this task we tried to include as many different people as possible.

It is obvious that this edition of the Per Annos is different than those of the past. For the first time a student works and informal color sections were included. On the whole the book is more informal and open than previous editions. It is our hopes that you will be able to appreciate and accept these changes.

A special thank you must be extended to first of all our staff, advisors Mr. Eckert and Mr. Maio, Taylor Publishing Company and their representative Mr. Raymond Ritter, Merin Studios, and Mr. Roig and the photography department.

Editors,

Sue Cleary Valerie Clark

Poem

Running free through space and time, feet barely touching, hearts entwined, forgetting earthly cares and woes,
where happiness ends, no one knows.
For we are free to roam and explore avenues of life others may ignore.

My Collectors Items Of Love

I kept them all so carefully the first one and the last they form a lovely link between the present and the past.

Some simply say "I love you"
please be my Valentine, while others have a pretty verse
a more ornate design.

They're different shapes and sizes but the sentiment's the same and I always guessed you sent them
'cause you always misspelled your name!

I keep them of mementoes of love that's never died a reminder of how glad I am to have you by my side.

And even if they disappear forever lost from view, they're all recorded in my heart,
those special ones from you.

Youth

Youth is expression, letting others know how we really feel.
Our deepest thoughts and ideas, we'll amplify.

Youth is questioning.
Where? What? How? and When?, all need answers.
Who am I?

Youth is friends,
making them, working, laughing together,
helping, moving on, all too soon, saying good-bye.

Youth is having affluence, now we have more than ever, mass production and all we want,
we buy.

Youth is learning.
Much of life spent in school, preparing for jobs that will be obsolete, we sigh.

Youth is drugs,
experimenting with the mind bending,
creating our own fantasy.
We get high.

Youth is polluting,
our air is turned black and water to waste,
forest to desert, life extinct,
we cry.

Youth is fighting,
fighting for an ideal so far away from peace, killing and being killed.
Why?

Youth is protest,
the older generation doesn't understand,
things are wrong and need to be changed,
we defy.

Youth is today,
so much to be done in this fast paced world.
And for a better tomorrow,
we'll try.

Color: A Contrast of Feelings

In this world of colors and hues, just consider black and white.
The white could be the white of a stone, and the black, the black of night.

We view these shades of contrast to be equal with pinks and greens, but when they stand for color of skin, hate springs from them it seems.

It is a thought that is oft forgot but picture in your mind, would we live in harmony
if we all were blind.

Marion Overington

I have a feeling that I'm needed
by someone, somewhere.
But who and where?

Will feel it when it comes,
my time of need?
Will someone come to ask me,
or will I hear the silent cry of help.

Through poems without rhymes and essays of want,
needs are sighted all over the world and one of those cries I'll satisfy, someday, somewhere.

Principal's Message

Some would say that "this is the year that was." Split sessions, shortened days, schedules that said Monday was Friday, four thousand people in one building at noon — all these things characterized your last year at Tennent. Sounds hectic, doesn't it? Yet somehow you all have survived and are ready to leave us.

Saying good-bye and good luck is always difficult for me, especially this year. You are the first senior class to graduate since I came to Tennent and will always have reserved a special place in my memories. I've enjoyed working with you; I've been pleased with your willingness to bend, to try something new, to speak frankly and openly about what you've thought, and to invest good energy in your classroom study and class projects. For all of these things I'm grateful.

For whatever the future holds, I wish only the best to all of you. Our doors are always open when you want to stop back to visit us; we'll be anxious to see you. So, simply, good-bye and good luck.

Cafeteria Staff and Bus Drivers

One major responsibility of Central Office Administration is to provide through the School Board and the School Board Authority the necessary atmosphere for effective learning. This to me means adequate number of qualified and dedicated teachers, textbooks, library facilities, supplies, and a building designed for learning, and one that meets the needs of today's students, — each of them.

In the early spring of 1972 it was expected that the opening of the new William Tennent Senior High School would be delayed for a month to six weeks. In the late spring members of our staff, the Authority, and some members of the School Board became concerned about design and construction, and ordered an investigation that caused an extended delay in opening the school. All this for safety and determination to receive "what we are paying for."

It has been difficult to do what we feel is right in the long run, — delay the building opening until everything is done correctly. It has been hard to say there is no building for the Class of 1973, and for this you have my sincere apologies and the empathy of School Board and Authority members as well as Central Office Administrative Staff. At a time when we have all been kind of tense with the crowded school, the split shifts, and the many compromises that had to be made it is somewhat of a revelation to sit back and watch the reactions and adaptability of the students who have had to attend school this year under some very difficult conditions. I was especially eager to see how seniors would adapt, and I must say that after the first "hurdles" were conquered the students did adapt themselves and did their best. Because of this experience we feel that your character has been strengthened to face the many adverse situations that will occur in the future. Your understanding and maturity and the adjustments you have made have impressed us. Someday you will look back at all this and smile because you have had a very "different" senior year.

We recognize a good class. Good luck to each of you.
